

Avinobolic™ with tribulus

IN 100 MCG, 150 MCG & 300 MC CONCENTRATED LIPOTROPICS

Avinobolic (100 mcg, 150 mcg & 300 mcg) is a specialized 43:1 concentrated whole extract of exceptional quality deer antler velvet in a special high absorption delivery solution. Chinese medicine has revered deer antler velvet for its many nutrients, minerals, glycosaminoglycans, growth hormones and much more. These nutrients have supported the repair of tissues, balancing of hormones including reduction of cortisol and estrogen and elevation of testosterone and IGF-1. In Chinese medicine it has been used for blood health beginning in the bone marrow.

Avinobolic (100 mcg, 150 mcg & 300 mcg) contains a powerful blend of growth factors in a naturally occurring matrix. These naturally occurring growth factors are involved in every cellular function in the human body, from metabolism to immune response. It provides a solution to the age old quest for the fountain of youth, by giving us a naturally occurring concentration of anti-aging components.

Tribulus terrestris is a plant that grows predominantly in Asia. It has been used for centuries in Indian Ayurvedic medicine as an herbal tonic for boost immune system and to treat sexual dysfunction. Asia cultures like the Chinese and Indian praised the plant for its effectiveness in the treatment of liver, kidney, and cardiovascular conditions. In Turkey, the plant was commonly used to lower blood pressure and cholesterol levels.

The Tribulus is used to regulate Luteinizing Hormone and thus regulate the production and release of sex hormones (Testosterone, DHEA, Estrogen, Estradiol.). Tribulus also possess anti-viral and anti-cancer properties. Tribulus has been clinically proven (Pak. J. Pharm. Sci., Vol.23, No.1, January 2010, pp.59-62) to raise Glutathione and Super Oxide Dismutase which are master antioxidants that stop DNA from breaking down (thus stopping the aging process), it's also one of the chief sources of energy, it releases stored fat and helps with the utilization of sugar (enhance fat loss or metabolism and cleansing the liver), and helps with protein absorption and utilization (this also will help the proteins from the Velvet Antler Extract and from what you eat to absorb at greater rates). Glutathione alone has 80,000 medical studies proving its application to at least 69 diseases or illnesses.

Notes on Avinotropin and Avinotropin Plus

By Dr. Frank A. Charles

Deer antler velvet whole nutrient extracts produced from 43 lbs. of velvet which is concentrated down to 1 lb. and then undergoes a triple cold alcohol extraction process and then it is preserved in a high quality ethanol delivery system for maximum absorption.

More powerful and effective than all other extracts I have seen or used. Many products have nutrients but none can approximate the amount or quality of the all important growth factors.

Avinotropin Plus is standardized to 100mcg of IGF-1 and Avinotropin is standardized to 45mcg of IGF-1 making them dollar for dollar the most potent and cost effective sources of deer antler velvet available today. Avinotropin is bottled in glass. Plastics degrade and absorb any growth factors and are not utilized in top products containing growth factors.

We recommend that you commit to using Avinotropin products for at least 3 months to see maximum results. Initially most people experience increases in endurance, mental focus, deeper sleep, and elevated moods.

In the second and third month of use people report more endurance, strength gains and a host of benefits related to the growth factors including increased strength gains, joint function and repair bone density. Other benefits associated with healthier hormone balance for men and women have included increases in muscle mass, fertility, libido and improved female hormone related complaints.

Directions for Use:

Hold under tongue for 60 seconds and then swish into sides of mouth for another 30 seconds before swallowing. If you don't like the slight burning herbal sensation you may add a little water to the mix.
